WHAT WE'RE ABOUT

SURLFC believes in dedication and competition, while being able to have fun, develop friendships and enjoy life.

The NSW Tertiary League is the perfect platform, as it provides the chance to participate in a competition which is both friendly and highly competitive. To remain competitive at this level, our modern training methods will help you improve, have fun, and develop genuine friendships with team mates.

Off the field, social events are hosted by SURLFC on a regular basis, designed to help its players develop networks and friendships.

WHO WE ARE

The Sydney University Rugby League Football Club (SURLFC) has a long and rich history, dating back from its formation in 1920.

Since its formation in 1920, SURLFC has participated in some of the best competitions in rugby league. SURLFC played in Australia's first ever rugby league club competition, the NSW Rugby League Premiership (predecessor to today's NRL) from 1920-1937, most notably finishing runners-up to the South Sydney Rabbitohs in 1926.

Today, SURLFC plays in the NSW Tertiary League, where we field both a first and reserve grade team. With clubs based in Sydney and Canberra, this is a geographically diverse competition conducted by the NSW Rugby League.

We also have an active alumni and a former player group who offer mentorship and support to our players.

WHY JOIN US

The club provides a professional and collegiate atmosphere for student and non-student players to enjoy playing competitive amateur rugby league. We provide our first 50 players with free equipment, gear, playing fields and high level coaches. We provide everything our players need to be the best of the best!

Players have the chance to receive prizes and end of season awards. Also, thanks to our sponsor Kobe Jones, a $100 voucher is awarded to the Man of the Match in each division throughout the season.

CHANCE TO PLAY OVERSEAS

Joining SURLFC provides you a great platform to greater opportunities and experiences. Throughout the club's history, players have been successfully selected to represent both New South Wales and Australia, at senior and tertiary rugby league levels.

Beyond playing in the standard NSW Tertiary League, players may have the chance to play in a Rugby League 9s competition, be exposed to selectors for the City vs Country match, NSW Tertiary team and Australian Universities team, which will be touring Fiji in 2014 (also recently toured the United Kingdom in 2013).

CHANCE TO BE SCOUTED

The Newtown Jets is the oldest rugby league football club still existent in Australia. They currently compete in the NSW Cup, which is primarily contested by reserve squads of NSW-based NRL teams, thus acting as a feeder competition to the NRL.

SURLFC plays in curtain raiser games to Newtown Jets games, which means a fantastic opportunity to be spotted by professional football teams. It is also a great environment to build experience in playing under great atmosphere.

FUTURE PLANS

Even though SURLFC has a rich history, the club is always looking to progress. In the near future, participation in higher level NSWRL competitions such as the Ron Massey Cup and the Sydney Shield may become a reality. Watch this space.

BRIAN SMITH

FORMER NRL COACH, PATRON OF SURLFC

"Having had experience with elite level coaching, I'm excited by my role as patron for the SURLFC, and the passion of its members, alumni, committee, and coaching staff.

I look forward to helping with the growth and development of the SURLFC teams, its players, coaching staff and overseeing a successful 2014 season."

CHRIS KINTIS

PRESIDENT OF SURLFC

"SURLFC offers competitive players a great place to develop, with great coaching, training, and a chance to compete at elite-level tertiary rugby league, while fostering an environment where balance between competitiveness and study is encouraged.

We focus on bringing out the best of rugby league with low-cost membership, hosting social events involving its alumni, networks and sponsors. With a committed management staff, committee, sponsors, and a promising 2014 player roster, we're looking forward to a great year!"
