

2016 INAUGURAL INTRAMURAL SPORT REPORT

2016 has been a very successful inaugural year for the Intramural Sports Competition both on and off the field. There were some excellent performances witnessed over the four sports and some fantastic levels of participation numbers from all residences involved. There were four sports throughout the year – Futsal, Badminton, Basketball and Table Tennis. Given 2016 was the Inaugural year for the competition there were certain unforeseen challenges that moving into 2017 we will be able to avoid through the use of prior planning and structures.

Congratulations to Queen Mary Building for winning the Men’s Thomas Whalen’s Cup and to International House for taking the win for the female’s and obtaining the Liane Tooth Cup. While the bigger residences did dominate the year there were still many competitive matches played by Sancta, Abercrombie and Mandelbaum. SUV and Urbanest both excelled in basketball and table tennis respectively and will endeavor to increase their participation over the other sports moving forward to next year.

The goals of the Intramural Competition being an increase in participation for all residences not involved in typical Inter Collegiate competitions and to build a community within residences that are generally quite isolated. I feel with the addition of sports such as table tennis and badminton it was a successful tool to encourage International students to participate – this created a fantastic comradery between students and created a very fun and positive environment.

Unfortunately participation from some smaller residences was an issue with Mandelbaum and Abercrombie, as well as SUV finding it difficult to field teams due to the low level of interaction from all apartments on a communal basis. Moving forward into 2017 it will be imperative to increase the responsibility of the Intramural Sports Conveners Committee in regards to marketing, ensure correct interaction with the students at their residence and that all marketing and promotional material is correctly placed on student notice boards and other communication platforms for the residences etc.

The Inaugural Intramural year was concluded with the Intramural Presentation night which was a great Success. It was an honor for the men’s championship cups; name sake Thomas Whalen to attend the night and the students found great inspiration in getting to know him and hearing about his sporting career and Sydney University days.

2017 will see the introduction of four more sports– Spike ball, ESports, Netball and Ultimate Frisbee added to the timetable for Intramural Sport which will call for great organization and structures set out well in advance. As it was the Inaugural year for the Intramural Program the role that SUSF would play was relatively unknown – moving forward into 2017 SUSF is taking a more hands on approach and will be taking over all correspondence with students as the prime contact for all enquiries as well as taking over as the chair at all committee meetings throughout the year.

General Recommendations for 2017:

- Ensure Sports Representatives are present at all events and are coordinating their residences teams and ensuring timetable is kept on track and team members are present at the appropriate times
- Consider a firm stance on team entries – 2016 saw some late team lists being entered which then fell through on the day – teams will need to have team lists in two days prior to the competition and they will not be altered or any more taken after this to ensure the smooth running of the day.

Futsal Recommendations for 2017:

- Consider an updated for and against score count on game day
- Game times worked well and participation numbers were high

Badminton Recommendations for 2017:

- Consider revising the participation rules for Badminton so that players can only play in one competition. The scheduling and timings for many matches needed to be changed on the day as some players were in two competitions concurrently.
- Where possible set aside one or two courts for warm up at certain times. It was difficult to tell which players were playing matches and which were warming up. Court convener was constantly moving participants off the courts to allow competition matches to be played.

Basketball Recommendations for 2017:

- Consider the use of the shot clock

Table Tennis Recommendations for 2017:

- Decrease table tennis booking to one court as two was too big a space
- Consider a shorter time allocation for table tennis matches or to change the structure so games are not on set times – games were sometimes very short this year and caused either the players to have to wait around or for the draw to be changed on the spot.
