Investing in Student Athlete Excellence

The University of Sydney believes in an education for all and so do we. Whether your dream is to represent Sydney University, a professional team, or Australia in sport, we've long invested in student athletes across a broad spectrum of achievements and ambitions.

Many factors must align to create the ideal environment for you to achieve your best including sporting programs with proven results, exceptional training facilities and services, committed academic and wellbeing help, supportive places to live, and financial assistance.

However, if you're an elite or emerging student athlete with the professional or international stage in your sights, then support that is comprehensive and tailored is critical. Quality high performance sporting programs, complemented by membership to our Elite Athlete Program - Australia's foremost university elite athlete program, will hold you in good stead for excellent results in your sport and studies.

Australia's Best Sporting Programs

Sporting Clubs

From those that provide social and recreational sporting opportunities, to those that are feeders to national and professional sporting organisations; our 39 affiliated sporting clubs have got it covered for providing you with pathways to participate, develop and represent Sydney University.

See a directory of our clubs

Intervarsity Sport

Each year thousands of students from over 40 tertiary education institutions represent their universities at the UniSport Nationals. Contested in varying locations across the nation and hosted by UniSport Australia, more than 40 sports are played across 10-15 national standard events. Whilst a popular and integral part of the student experience, the UniSport Nationals also provide opportunities to qualify for higher representative honours, such as selection for the FISU Summer and Winter World University Games where many Sydney University students have competed as Australian UniRoos.

Athletic Performance Services

Sports Science

Surrounded by world-leading academics, researchers, and industry leaders from The University of Sydney, our programs and practices are naturally shaped by sound knowledge and principles related to performance, health, and wellbeing. Our clubs, programs and athletes are often involved in research projects that contribute to our learning environment and the community.

SUSF is also a key strategic collaborator of the University's Sport and Physical Activity Research and Teaching Network (SPARTAN) that aims to facilitate high-impact interdisciplinary research that addresses physical activity and public health, promotes population health, advances knowledge and expertise in athletic performance and identifies novel strategies in injury prevention and management.

Courtesy of STATSports, several of our high performance programs utilise leading GPS technology to ensure best practice and a competitive advantage for our athletes and teams.

Find out more about SPARTAN

Strength and Conditioning

SUSF's dedicated team of experienced strength and conditioning coaches ensure that athletes of our high performance programs are physically prepared for success. They conduct fitness testing, create individualised strength and conditioning programs, provide guidance and supervision during training and on game days, as well as access to the David Mortimer High Performance Gym within the TAG Family Foundation Grandstand. Accredited by the Australian Strength and Conditioning Association, our coaches work in close collaboration with program directors and coaches, medical and allied health professionals, as well as interns and placement students from The University of Sydney, to deliver support that is holistic and athlete centred.

The Sports Clinic

At The Sports Clinic located in the Arena Sports Centre, students of The University of Sydney and athletes of Sydney University sporting clubs receive concessions on often-needed services, such as medical, physiotherapy, podiatry and acupuncture. Many of the experienced medical and allied health professionals that work closely with our high performance programs and sporting clubs are based at The Sports Clinic.

Dietetics, Performance Psychology and Mental Skills

Sydney University student athletes in our high performance programs get access to tailored education and support provided by our preferred practitioners.

Based on scientific evidence, a dietitian will give you personalised nutrition and diet advice. You'll learn how to improve your health and performance by eating better and managing health conditions through good nutrition.

Working with a performance psychologist may be the key to enhancing your performance or finding what's holding you back from achieving your sporting goals. By identifying and applying psychological principles that enable peak performance, performance psychologists and mental skills coaches can help you reach your potential by improving your goal setting, motivation, performance anxiety management, visualisation and otherwise.

Elite Athlete Program members receive complimentary strength and conditioning coaching and access to the David Mortimer High Performance Gym, as well as up to $1,000 per annum in subsidies to help with covering the cost of seeing dietitians and performance psychologists.

Health and Wellbeing, and Personal Support

We recognise that a high level of health and wellbeing - mental, physical, financial, social, and spiritual; is crucial to achieving excellence in both sport and study. All students are encouraged to take advantage of the quality services and resources provided by The University of Sydney to facilitate their holistic development, including:

Health and Wellbeing

- University Health Service (incl. medical centre, chiropractic, dentistry, and optometry)
- Wellbeing and Counselling Services
- Inclusion and Disability Services
- Safer Communities Office

Personal Support

- Financial Support (e.g. bursaries and interest-free loans)
- Student Advocacy
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Support (The Gadigal Centre)
- Pride Network and LGBTQIA+ Support
- Multifaith Chaplaincy

For more information

Alongside complimentary tutoring, Elite Athlete Program members receive the support of experienced and qualified staff to assist with a wide range of academic, athletic and other issues, including how to navigate sport and study commitment clashes and applying for special consideration and arrangements.

Academic Support

The University of Sydney offers a range of helpful academic services and resources to all students including:

- Learning hub (Academic Language and Learning, and Mathematics) – Assistance with mathematics and statistics, as well as academic communication, research, and study skills.
- The Library student support – Find places to study, necessary course resources, exam support, training and more.
- Degree planning and academic advice – Help with understanding your degree requirements or structuring your course, or specialised degree or discipline advice.
- One-on-one support – Guidance for making study-related decisions that will help you achieve your personal and academic goals.
- Academic progression – Help with understanding the academic progression process and how you can be supported if you encounter academic or personal challenges in completing your studies.

For more information

Tutoring

Complimentary one-on-one tutoring is available across a broad range of subjects for Sydney Uni student athletes who are members of our Elite Athlete Program. This service is helpful if you are experiencing difficulties with grasping study content or have missed classes due to sporting commitments.

Special Consideration and Arrangements

While you are studying, there may be exceptional circumstances or essential commitments that impact your academic performance. You may have clashes between your study and sporting commitments*, be absent for periods of time, or experience injury and illness. The University of Sydney provides special consideration and arrangements such as extensions, replacement examinations and otherwise to assist in these situations.

*Sporting commitments must be those in which you are representing the University, state, or nation and all applications must be submitted within select timeframes and accompanied by appropriate supporting documentation.

Accommodation

There are a variety of accommodation options on the University's main (Camperdown and Darlington) campus, including the residential colleges and University residences.

If you require on-campus accommodation, you are strongly encouraged to apply for places as early as possible in the year prior to your enrolment at The University of Sydney.

Residential Colleges

The residential colleges offer much more than accommodation. Rich in heritage and tradition, they offer a supportive living experience that allows you to excel in your studies and enjoy an exciting social and sporting calendar. This, together with three catered meals a day and laundry services amongst other provisions, the residential colleges are a great way to make your transition to independence. For student athletes (who are often time-poor), the residential colleges are of immense benefit; you won't miss out on a terrific student experience!

For more information

University Residences

Managed by the University, there are several residences where you can enjoy the freedom of affordable, self-catered, and convenient accommodation.

- Abercrombie Student Accommodation
- The Regiment Student Accommodation
- Queen Mary Building
- Darlington House

For more information

Priority places in select University Residences may be offered to current and prospective Sydney Uni student athletes who are members of our Elite Athlete Program. Enquire via sportscholarships@sport.usyd.edu.au.

Other Accommodation Options

Along with University residences and residential colleges, there are a range of short-term, long-term and homestay options for students. From boarding houses and purpose-built apartments, there are plenty of places to stay near the University.

For more information

Places may be prioritised in select residential colleges for current and prospective Elite Athlete Program members. Several residential colleges also offer scholarships to assist Elite Athlete Program members with covering their college fees. Enquire via sportscholarships@sport.usyd.edu.au.

St. Andrew's College

St Andrew's College is a vibrant and diverse academic community that has been shaping leaders since 1867. With over 380 male and female undergraduates, postgraduates, and resident fellows, our college provides an environment where students thrive academically, socially, and athletically.

Our commitment to excellence is exemplified by the remarkable achievements of our alumni, including Olympians Jaime Ryan, Hannah Buckling, Forbes Carlile, and Rohan Browning, Australian Matilda's players Clare Wheeler and Clare Hunt, and former Wallaby Captains Phil Waugh, Nick Farr-Jones, Dick Tooth, John Solomon, Arthur Wallace, Tom Lawton, Alex Ross, and Bill Hardcastle.

If you value the pursuit of excellence and want to change the world, St Andrew's is the right college for you.

St. John's College

St John's College is a coeducational residential college for University of Sydney students. Established in 1857, it holds the distinction of being the oldest Catholic college in Australia. Throughout its history, the College has consistently advocated for the significance of sports in a well-rounded university life. We continuously challenge our students to achieve their personal bests, both on and off the field.

In 2025, St John's College is thrilled to uphold this proud legacy by once again partnering with SUSE. This collaboration aims to support our students' athletic pursuits through a dedicated scholarship program for elite athletes. The College is committed to matching the financial support granted to students who receive recognition through the Elite Athlete Program.

St. Paul's College

Founded in 1856, St Paul's is the oldest residential college. The undergraduate College and the newer Graduate House are both co-residential. St Paul's offers a traditional college experience, a comprehensive tutorial programme, a full range of co-curricular activities and a vibrant social life. The College has a proud record of academic achievement having produced 29 Rhodes Scholars and over 100 University Medallists to date. With a long and distinguished record in sport, Paul's participates fully in the Rawson Cup and Rosebowl competitions. The College oval is the setting for internal, intercollegiate and University sports fixtures. In addition, the College boasts a fully equipped and recently extended gymnasium with designated studio for dance, yoga and Pilates.

Sancta Sophia College

Sancta encourages applications from undergraduate women with sporting talent who wish to join a diverse community built to empower women. On-campus at Sydney Uni, we are a women's undergraduate and co-ed postgraduate community with over 300 students from all over Australia and the world. We value the leadership and dedication that sportspeople bring to our vibrant and inclusive residential community, with many high-performing athletes in our history including Australian Wallaroos star Arabella McKenzie and champion swimmer Elizabeth Gan.

Community-minded athletes choose Sancta for the sporting, social, academic and creative opportunities on offer throughout the year in a fun, safe and supportive environment. To cater for athletes, we lead in nutritional innovation of our all-inclusive meals service and students can access personalised support to juggle their demanding academic and training schedules.

Elite Athlete Program members who are awarded a SUSF scholarship will automatically receive a matching residential scholarship at Sancta.

The Blue & Gold Tradition

The awarding of Blues began at Oxford and Cambridge Universities and is a tradition found at British and Australian universities.

A Blue is an award earned by sports people who are studying at The University of Sydney, competing in the highest level sporting competition and have achieved outstanding sporting achievement.

Blues are nominated in October at the conclusion of the annual University sporting calendar and the successful nominees are presented with their Blues at the annual Blues Dinner. Blues earn the right to wear their Blues jacket in the traditional stripes of 'Blue and Gold' at all future events.
